

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A circuit selector assembly including an electrical conductor, an electrical contact, a first spring beam connected to the electrical contact and a second spring beam connected to the electrical contact. The second spring beam biases the electrical contact to a first position, the first spring beam being deflected when the electrical contact is in a second position, the second 5 position being defined as when the electrical contact is contacting the electrical conductor.